EXTRACTING THE DATA: Case studies using the data in Australia, South Africa and Zimbabwe

Side event: Tuesday February 6
6.30pm
Doubletree Hotel

PWYP Australia and PWYP South Africa invite you to their event 'Extracting the Data: Case studies using the data in Australia, South Africa and Zimbabwe.'

PWYP Australia, PWYP South Africa and PWYP Zimbabwe/ZELA are participants in the the PWYP Data Extractors Programme.

The PWYP Data Extractors Programme is a global initiative which trains participants to uncover and make sense of extractives data. It creates a network of activists who can in turn share their knowledge with local communities

Please join PWYP Australian National Coordinator Jessie Cato, PWYP South Africa National Coordinator Tafadzwa Kuvheya and ZELA Economic Governance Officer Mukasiri Sibanda as we share our work, talk about how data has helped our campaigns, and the close connections between Australian and African mining.

The event will also be the South African launch of the PWYP Australia Data Extractor report: Abundant Resources, Absent Data: Measuring the Openness of Mining, Oil and Gas Companies on the African Continent.
